Customer Journey Map

This journey map describes how an EV market analyst or business decision-maker uses the Tableau dashboard to explore market performance and identify opportunities.

Journey Phase	Stage 1 – Access & Understand	Stage 2 – Explore & Compare	Stage 3 – Interpret & Decide
Actions	• Opens the Tableau Public dashboard • Reviews KPI cards • Reads the project story	• Uses Year filter • Compares country, category, battery and manufacturer charts • Explores price and rating scatter plot	• Identifies growth and leading segments • Compares market patterns • Uses insights for planning
Touchpoints	Tableau Public link; dashboard landing view; KPI cards and story navigation	Year filter; sales trend; country map; category and battery charts; manufacturer pie; scatter plot	Story captions; chart labels and tooltips; dashboard summary; published Tableau view
Customer Thought	“What is the overall EV market performance?”	“Which markets, categories and technologies are performing better?”	“What do these patterns mean for future market and product decisions?”
Customer Feeling	Curious; wants a quick overview	Engaged; may need clear labels and comparisons	More informed; expects reliable and understandable insights
Process Ownership	Project analyst / dashboard creator	Project analyst / dashboard creator	Project analyst / decision-maker using the dashboard
Opportunities	Provide clear KPI definitions and a short dashboard introduction	Keep filters consistent; add readable labels and tooltips; ensure charts use the same validated dataset	Add concise insight summaries; state dataset period and limitations; provide a clear takeaway for each scenario
